

ANOTHER SAMPLE OF WATCHFUL WAITING

PERSHING EXPEDITION KEPT IN MEXICO BE-CAUSE WILSON DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Regular Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The unintended but fortunate disclosure of General Funston's emphatic recommendation that General Pershing's command be withdrawn from Mexico has revealed another important phase of the Mexican situation which the administration had earnestly sought to suppress. Since April 11, General Pershing's command has been kept in Mexico, in constant danger from attack, not permitted to advance, without reinforcements, to the injury of its health and morale, because—President Wilson could not make up his mind, either to continue the pursuit of Villa or to withdraw. In the effort to shift responsibility for any military disaster which might occur Mr. Wilson and Secretary Baker have persistently avoided asking the military authorities for their opinion, but they inadvertently asked General Funston for his views in connection with the proposed Mexican conference and the courageous little Kansan, without regard to how unwelcome his words would be to Mr. Wilson, came back with a flat-footed recommendation that the troops be withdrawn from Mexican soil. The administration tried vainly to suppress the fact that Funston had made this recommendation, but it leaked out and knowing Funston they do not dare deny it. Pershing, it will be remembered was ordered into Mexico to "break up the Villa band of bandits," Mr. Wilson said, "to get Villa"—following the raid on Columbus, on March 8. The punitive expedition was brilliantly led and had nearly captured Villa in the Sierra Madre range when, on April 12, the Carranza forces at Parral treacherously attacked the American troops, killing and wounding several. The Wilson administration immediately became panic-stricken, ordered the pursuit abandoned and a "watchful waiting policy" adopted by American troops in enemy country. In great danger and at great expense, the Pershing line into Mexico has been maintained ever since, although if he was not to go forward he had no reason for being there and should have been ordered back. Pershing was then 500 miles below the border. Finally, he was secretly ordered to withdraw to Naniquipa, 200 miles below the border. The retreat of the American soldiers emboldened the Carranzistas again to attack them, at Carrizal, on June 21, where two officers and a number of troops were killed. Arredondo, Carranza's ambassador, informed President Wilson that the Carranza soldiers fired by order of "the First Chief." Again the administration became panic-stricken and Pershing was secretly ordered to retreat to Colonia Dublan, 130 miles below the border. As every military man knows, although few dare say it, Pershing has been kept there for no reason whatever save that Mr. Wilson has been unable to make up his mind and because he has feared popular criticism on the one hand if he appeared to yield to Carranza's demand that the American troops be withdrawn, and on the other, loss of the belief of some of the uninformed voters, that "he has kept us out of war."

Maine Prospects.

Hon. Ralph D. Cole returned from Maine today, where he opened the Republican campaign, enthusiastic over Republican prospects. Mr. Cole declares that Republicans and former Progressives are working hand in hand; that there is perfect loyalty to Hughes and absolute co-ordination of effort. He is loud in his praises of the Republican candidate for governor, Carl Milliken, who commands the respect and support of the people and who is making an excellent campaign. "Maine has always been noted for its patriotism," says Mr. Cole, "and the men who shouldered a musket in '60 and '61 are filled with indignation at Wilson's weak and vacillating and unpatriotic conduct of our relations with Mexico. You find magnificent specimens of American manhood in Maine, men who are Americans first, last and all the time, stern, manly, rugged, and it makes their blood boil to hear of American men murdered, American women outraged and American soldiers treacherously shot down while the president of the United States, fearing that any step will hurt him politically, contents himself with writing notes and arranging for a "conference" with those responsible for the wholesale murder of American citizens. Maine is as certainly in the Republican column as it ever was in our history."

The Shipping Bill.

The senate has passed the McAdoo-Wilson shipping bill and it now goes to conference. It has been shorn of some of its worst features, but still serves some highly desirable purposes. Its passage will "save the president's face." It will provide a number of sinecures for "deserving Democrats." First come the members of the shipping board, with salaries of $7,500 each, then all the secretaries and employees. Then it appropriates $50,000,000 out of the treasury, and every experienced politician knows how convenient it is to have $50,000,000 to expend on the eve of a presidential election. Oh yes, it's a fine bill.

A Good Veto.

President Wilson has vetoed the army bill and in so doing has done wisely. It is a pleasure to find something this administration has done which can be frankly praised, and everyone familiar with the facts and not involved in the personal dispute between General Leonard Wood and General Fred Ainsworth, retired, appreciates that this is a good veto, and one made necessary by the attempt of the Democratic chairman of the military committee, Representative Hay of Virginia, to destroy military discipline in order to enable a friend to vent his spleen. The clause which called forth the veto relieved officers from liability to service and from military discipline. It was designed simply to enable General Ainsworth to publish a book attacking his time-honored enemy, General Wood. Possibly Representative Hay should not be too severely blamed, because it is upon just such broad national lines that so much of the legislation of this administration has been based.

The Man Behind.

"That it was the man behind the words" which lent force to President Cleveland's ultimatum to England regarding Venezuela, and to President Roosevelt's ultimatum to Germany also regarding Venezuela, while it has been "the man behind the words," who has been responsible for the contempt accorded by various foreign nations to the protests of this administration is the epigrammatic explanation of Senator Lodge.

PRAIRIE DOGS KILLED BY THE THOUSANDS

"By putting carbide into holes of prairie dogs during the past two weeks, thousands of these pests have been killed at my place near Del Rio," said W. T. Hall, yesterday. His invention is simple, and he says will not be protected by patent rights, but is open to any who care to use it.

The process is easily applied, by mixing the carbide with water and pouring the mixture into the openings. The soil absorbs the water, leaving the compound in a vaporized state. By placing in the hole at any point whatever a lighted torch an explosion takes place and every reptile, animal or even small insect therein is instantly destroyed.

Hall set aside two acres of land that were infested by gophers and prairie dogs, and after setting off about two dozen charges into as many openings, the land was freed of these pests. He has continued the work in other zones, and in the ground covered to date has not seen a single animal since. The adjoining territory has also been relieved of these crop destroyers.

G. W. Hankin, superintendent of the large Harvey dairy at Del Rio has witnessed results obtained by Hall, and is soon to introduce the new exterminator. This farm is preyed upon by hundreds of thousands of prairie dogs and the loss is heavy from their destroying crops as well as alfalfa. Hall also stated yesterday that a bean patch of over two acres was thrifty until the prairie dog entered, and made a clean sweep, not a pod being left. "The cost is light, and results are perfect," he said.

RENEWING OLD TIMES

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
J. H. Marr, member of one of the best known and most popular pioneer Arizona families, who resided in early days in the Verde valley, was an arrival yesterday from Los Angeles, bringing an auto truck for his brother-in-law, W. Jeff Martin, of Black Canyon. The visitor is a student of the California Normal school, and is enjoying a vacation with friends. He is accompanied by Prof. C. M. Shirley of Los Angeles, prominently known in musical circles, and he also is enjoying a trip of recreation for a few weeks. He says that Prescott is a beautiful little city, and much to his surprise he finds as pretty a situation abounding as any one could wish for, with an ideal climate as an additional attraction.

JURY IS UNABLE TO AGREE IN DUFF CASE

ATTORNEYS FOR DEFENSE AND PROSECUTION SUB-MIT STRONG FINAL AR-GUMENTS AT TRIAL.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

After deliberating seven hours without being able to agree on a verdict, the jury in the case of Larry Duff, charged with violation of the State prohibition amendment, was locked up at 11 o'clock last night and will resume deliberation this morning.

The case was given to the jury at 3:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon after having occupied the greater part of the last two days in the Superior court. Both sides fought vigorously, Attorney Morrison, for the defense, striving to prove that his client was the victim of a "mass of discreditable testimony not worthy of belief" and County Attorney O'Sullivan and Deputy County Attorney Morgan using every effort to prove that Duff had sold an intoxicating drink to R. H. Bryant, a Thiel detective, on May 22 last.

The trial attracted an unusual amount of attention on account of being the first of the so-called "bootlegging" cases in which the defendant was charged with selling an intoxicant diluted with a mild beverage, and which was not alleged to have been a pure intoxicant.

At no time during the trial was any attempt made to prove that any adulterated liquor had been purchased from Duff by either Cooper or Bryant, Thiel detectives, or Mrs. Bryant. The case hinged about the ingredients of what the defense claimed to be pure ginger-ale and what the prosecution attempted to prove was ginger-ale diluted with about 39 per cent alcohol.

The testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant and Cooper was practically the same as that given at the preliminary hearing of Duff. They told of the alleged effect which the ginger-ale had upon them and Mrs. Bryant testified to having accompanied her husband to a booth in the cafe where Duff is employed and of watching the former take samples of the ginger-ale. These samples, when tested later, were alleged by the prosecution to contain 39 per cent alcohol.

Duff testified that he served Mr. and Mrs. Bryant only pure ginger-ale and that when he had taken some of the drinks into the booth Bryant had displayed a brown bottle and asked him if he wanted a drink of "something good."

F. S. Milligan, who several days ago was sentenced to the State penitentiary after having pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery, testified for the prosecution that on June 19th he had visited the cafe at about 10 o'clock in the morning and had purchased an intoxicating drink from Duff. Stanley Priestly, a fellow employee of Duff's, took the stand in rebuttal and testified that Duff had not worked a day shift for years, and that on June 19th he, Priestly, and Duff had gone out into the country to look at a mine.

"Matt" O'Leary, another employee of the cafe, "Colonel" Fred Bowler and Joe Hobbs were called by the defense and told of one occasion on which Milligan produced a bottle of whiskey while drinking in the cafe and attempted to "spike" a glass of ginger-ale that O'Leary had served him.

In his final argument before the jury, Attorney Morrison assailed the testimony of Cooper and Bryant on the ground that they were "hired witnesses." He charged that they had been sent here by the Thiel agency, after other operatives had failed to get evidence of bootlegging, with orders to "make good" in order that the Thiel people would not lose the business of Yavapai county. He alleged that Bryant had kept the samples of ginger-ale alleged to have been secured from Duff for two days before turning them over to a chemist to be analyzed. The entire case was gone over carefully by Morrison and each bit of testimony given by witnesses for the prosecution was flayed and ridiculed by him as a part of an attempt to "get" everybody in Birch Bros. cafe.

County Attorney O'Sullivan put up an equally vigorous argument for the prosecution. He dwelt at length on the adoption of the prohibition amendment and declared that it must be enforced as any other law, regardless of whom the prosecution might affect. He upheld the testimony of the detectives and declared they were working for the good of the public and should no more be classed as "hired witnesses" than himself or even the jurors.

JURY DISAGREES IN CASE OF LARRY DUFF

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Standing, it is said, 10 to 2 for acquittal, the jury in the case of Larry Duff, charged with violation of the State prohibition amendment, was discharged from further consideration of the case at 11:20 o'clock yesterday morning after Eli Perkins, foreman of the jury, informed Judge Smith in the Superior court that there was no hope of the 12 men agreeing on a verdict.

The case was given to the jury about four o'clock Friday afternoon. At 11 o'clock that night the jurors had been unable to reach a verdict and were locked up for the night. Further deliberation was resumed at 10:05 o'clock yesterday morning. Ten minutes later the jury returned to the court room and the instructions of the court were again read to them. At 11:20 all hope of a verdict being agreed upon was abandoned.

Although the prosecution had what it thought to be a good case against Duff, Attorney Morrison, for the defense, dealt it several hard blows during the trial and, when the case went to the jury, the defense was confident that the result would be either a disagreement or an acquittal.

The State was dealt another rude jolt last night when the jury in the case of J. E. Templeton, of Jerome, charged with violating the booze law, brought in a verdict of not guilty, after having been out two hours.

Templeton was arrested in Jerome, July 1st, arraigned for preliminary hearing the following day before Justice S. F. Denison and bound over to the Superior court for trial. In the information filed against him he was charged with having sold a pint of whiskey on July 1st to M. W. Burgan.

Several witnesses for the prosecution gave testimony yesterday tending to show that Templeton had sold liquor in Jerome and three bottles of whiskey were introduced as evidence. The defendant took the stand in his own defense and denied ever having disposed of whiskey as charged in the information and produced witnesses to substantiate his testimony.

A few minutes before the case was given to the jury a verbal clash occurred between Deputy County Attorney Morgan for the prosecution, and Attorney F. L. Haworth, who was appointed by the court to defend Templeton. Morgan was making his final plea to the jury and called the jurors' attention to the fact that, although the State had produced many witnesses who testified to violations of the law, the defendants in the so-called bootlegging cases had always taken the stand and denied their guilt. At this juncture Attorney Haworth sprang to his feet and demanded that Morgan be ordered to stop this line of argument, contending that what other defendants had testified to had nothing to do with the trial of Templeton and declaring that if the deputy county attorney doubted the testimony of defendants in other cases an investigation might be started. The case was given to the jury about 5:30 o'clock, with instructions that the court would be ready to hear from it at any time up to 11 o'clock last night.

IRATE WOMAN FAILS TO FRIGHTEN JUDGE
(From Sunday's Daily.)
A woman who, it is charged, has been collecting money in Prescott supposedly for children of foreign lands, prohibition, for cleaning up the border and for various other purposes and funds, was taken before Police Judge Frank Whisman yesterday and warned that if she was caught soliciting contributions again she would be held for trial. The woman was arrested by Chief of Police Robert Robbins, who doubted seriously if the children of foreign lands would ever derive any benefit from the funds given her. When she was taken before Whisman, the woman proceeded to inform him that, according to all the rules of international law and human rights, he was exceeding his authority, and that she would do "just as she pleased."

For several minutes she is said to have created an uproar in the court room, using certain brands of language not often heard in good society, but her protests failed to move Whisman, who warned her as she left the room that Prescott would not stand for "mooching" in any form.

ENJOYED CLIMATE

(From Sunday's Daily.)
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sproules, of Pima county, return home today in auto, after a six weeks' sojourn in this section. Both are very much pleased with the climate, and Mr. Sproules states he will acquire a lot later and build a bungalow for summer use. His son, Dewey, is to arrive during the week to attend the public school in this city.

PRETTY WEDDING AT CASTLE HOT SPRINGS

GOUDY-CHAMPIE NU-TIALS ARE CELEBRATED
BY A LARGE NUMBER BEING PRESENT.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Castle Hot Springs was the scene of a very pretty wedding the evening of August 21, when Miss Pearl Goudy, of Loreane, Texas, became the bride of Charles F. Champie, until recently of Crown King. The ceremony was performed in the parlor of the hotel at that resort, Rev. G. A. Oxhorn officiating. Miss Clara Champie, sister of the groom, attended the bride, while Dave Edel was best man.

The bride is a native of Texas, a public school teacher, who comes from one of the best known families of that State. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Champie, and is a native of Yavapai.

The event attracted a large number of people, and over 50 miners, ranchers and cattlemen were present, many coming from distant sections owing to the popularity of the principals. A wedding supper followed, and later all indulged in dancing until the early morning hours. The groom is acquiring quite large land holdings along Castle creek, which are being improved with a new home. He also is owner of a large flock of Angora goats, and is well on the way to future wealth. He and bride were tendered many useful presents, and on leaving the next morning for their future home were given a splendid ovation.

PLAN FOR ROAD EXPENDITURES ANNOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Secretary Houston has just announced the plan to be pursued in spending the $10,000,000 appropriated by the Federal aid road act for the construction and maintenance of roads and trails within or partly within national forests, and has tentatively allotted among the various national forest States the $10,000,000 which is expendable this fiscal year.

The tentative allotments to the principal national forest States are as follows: Alaska, $46,280; Arizona, $29,795; Arkansas, $11,294; California, $140,763; Colorado, 62,335; Idaho, $108,010; Montana, $89,901; Nevada, $19,195; New Mexico, $42,622; Oregon, $127,794; South Dakota, $8,115; Utah, $40,982; Washington, $91,739; Wyoming, $40,566. In addition, a total of $9,552 has been tentatively assigned to Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and Oklahoma, while the Eastern States—Maine, New Hampshire, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Georgia—in which the government is purchasing lands for national forests, have been allotted $21,957.

"In general," said Secretary Houston, "the States and counties will be required to furnish co-operation in an amount at least equal to 50 per cent of the estimated cost of the surveys and construction. However, upon a satisfactory showing by the applicant State or county that such proportion of co-operation is inequitable, it may be altered and the ratio of co-operation fixed upon a basis equitable to both the State and county and the United States."

The method followed in apportioning the money was explained by Secretary Houston as follows: Ten per cent of the amount available each year will be withheld as a contingent fund. One-half of the remainder will be allotted to the States in amounts which will be based on the area of national forest lands in each State. The other half will be apportioned on a basis of estimated value of timber and forage resources which the forests contain. Amounts apportioned but unexpended within three years, and any balance of the contingent fund which remains unapportioned at the end of each year, will be re-apportioned on the same basis as the original allotments.

OVATION GIVEN CAMPBELL AT ALL POINTS

NUMEROUS DEMOCRATS PLEDGE SUPPORT TO HIS CANDIDACY AT THE GENERAL ELECTION.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

OATMAN, Aug. 26.—Traveling in his new car, "The Favorite Son," so named by his traveling companions because it was a gift by the people of Prescott to him, Tom Campbell, Republican candidate for governor of Arizona, arrived here last night.

He was given a reception as he passed down the main street of the camp by business men and miners who knew him. They informed him that there were a great many Tom Campbell Democrats in Oatman who were going to give him their votes in November. The popularity of the candidate was apparent from his entrance into the camp, and it has grown every moment of his stay. He visited the Tom Reed and other mines meeting the workmen, and he was cordially received by all. He explained that his visit at this time was merely to meet the voters and talk to them informally, and that later in the campaign he will return and hold a public meeting.

Mr. Campbell's party consists of Doane Merrill, Republican candidate for State auditor; George H. Smalley, candidate for State tax commissioner, and Max Goheen, of Prescott, who is driving "The Favorite Son" automobile.

They left Phoenix Tuesday morning, having been delayed several days because of Mr. Campbell's illness from his recent fall from a rearing horse. The party stopped at Alhambra, Peoria, Glendale, Hot Springs Junction, Wickenburg, journeying from the latter place through the Grace valley to Bouse, Wenden, Salome, Parker and other points. The Campbell Democrats were found in abundance in all these places, and it is very apparent that the registration is a very poor index of what is going to happen in the November election. The serious split in the Democratic party is going to have its effect in augmenting the Campbell Democrats after the primaries, and many Democrats are heard to freely predict the election of Tom Campbell.

They contend that they have never had a candidate whom they knew to be seriously interested in the welfare of all the people of the State as Mr. Campbell is, and who will be the same Tom when he is governor of Arizona as he is to them today.

There are many local fights going on in the places where Mr. Campbell's itinerary has taken him thus far, all of them unfortunately for the showing that will be made in the Republican primaries, drawing Republicans into the Democratic primaries.

The party left here tonight for Kingman, then will go east over the northern part of the State, visiting all the towns along the line and the Grand Canyon. The itinerary takes the party on to the eastern boundary, and then south through St. Johns, Snowflake, Pine Top and the White mountains to Rice and Globe. From Globe the party will tour Graham, Greenlee, Cochise, Pima, Santa Cruz, Yuma and Pinal counties. The trip to be covered will be about 3,500 miles.

Mr. Campbell appeared to be in excellent health and confident of his growing strength politically.

THIS GENERATION TO SEE END OF WORLD

"Gray headed men and women sitting here in this audience will live to see Christ come in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory," said Evangelist Sims in a sermon at the Seventh Day Adventist gospel tent, opposite the Plaza.

Mr. Sims based his sermon on Matthew, the 24th chapter. Continuing, he said: "While no man knows the hour, the day, or the year of Christ's return to the earth, yet on the authority of the words of Christ we know the generation now living will witness the end of the world."

"I am glad I can look on gray-headed people today and know some of them will live till the gospel work is finished, and if faithful, be translated to heaven. This is a tremendous truth, and we who believe it ought to be tremendously in earnest about our own salvation, the salvation of our loved ones and of our friends and neighbors."

The subject tonight will be, "Iniquity Refuted." Doubtless and skeptics are especially invited to be present.

PIONEER RANKS ARE SHATTERED ONCE AGAIN

JOHN DICK, AN EARLY DAY VENTURESOME
ARIZONAN, DIES IN A CABIN AT HIS MINE.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

John Dick, a resident of Yavapai county since 1874, and of Arizona for over half a century, died in his cabin on the Hassayampa Friday night after a long illness, due to Bright's disease.

The history of this pioneer is intensely interesting. His early life was filled with adventure, he being a member of the celebrated Lent filibustering expedition entering Mexico, in search of placer wealth and to set aside a section of land supposed to contain rich gold quartz mines. Harold Lent, of San Francisco, headed the party of 14 which sailed from that city with the west coast of Sonora as their destination. They first landed, however, on the island of Tiburon, in the Gulf of California, early in 1864, where a fight occurred with the Ceres Indians. The latter outnumbered the Americans, however, ten to one, and the invasion of the land was abandoned. Crossing the channel to the mainland of Sonora, the party ventured into the interior, with a Portuguese guide. They were resisted as filibusters and after two weeks of constant clashing with Mexican rurales, the party dwindled to only four, among them the deceased, who later reached Tucson. He left Southern Arizona a short time afterward, saying that a price had been placed on his head by the governor of Sonora, and Tucson being a largely populated Mexican city, he and three companions drifted to Central Arizona, and back to the coast to escape capture.

Mr. Dick when only 19 years of age made the trip from New York City to San Francisco in a sailing vessel around Cape Horn, reaching that city in November of 1857. He successfully followed placer mining on the Feather river, and with his small fortune was in the "Mexican Fool Pool," as he termed that venture. The deceased was a native of New York City, of Scotch-Irish parentage. He worked in the Tiptop mine during its boom days, as well as the Peck bonanza. In late years he had been developing his gold mines near the river crossing, and had brought his holdings up to a good rating. He was aged 78 years.

ALIEN LABORERS IN- FECTED WITH SMALLPOX

(From Friday's Daily.)

The bringing to Williams a short time ago of a carload of laborers from Mexico to work on the road of the Santa Fe, and a fully developed case of smallpox arising among them, has occasioned alarm in that community, and official action has started by Dr. Thomas Manning, superintendent of health of Coconino county, to avert what may possibly terminate in an epidemic.

He arrived from Flagstaff yesterday and was in consultation during the day with State Superintendent of Health Dr. R. N. Looney, in this city. It was stated that the 18 Mexicans had been isolated under strict quarantine, and as yet only one had become affected. Dr. Looney has taken the matter up with the general offices in Los Angeles and it is reported will issue strict prohibitive regulations to govern future importations from Mexico, by requiring that each alien submit to vaccination before leaving his country, and remain in quarantine until a specified time has elapsed after this precautionary step is taken to prevent the communicating of the disease. The above bunch of Mexicans was brought over the line without any restrictions being imposed as to their physical condition and were rushed to the point designated without any sanitary regulations being imposed, the case above resulted.

PIONEER ARIZONAN TUBERCULAR VICTIM

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Charles Pennington, recently from Globe, but many years ago a resident of this city, passed away yesterday morning, from tuberculosis, after a long illness. He came to Prescott a few weeks ago, and the change of climate appeared to be beneficial. The deceased was widely known throughout the State. He was a member of Globe Lodge of Elks, and has relatives residing at Claradale, Iowa. The body is at Ruffner's. Burial will probably be given at the old family home.
